CITIZENSHIP IN TIMES OF CRISIS

Friday, April 1, 2016
USC Gould School of Law, Faculty Lounge, Room 433

PROGRAM

CONTINENTAL BREAKFAST & WELCOME REMARKS, 8:30-9:15 AM

PANEL 1, 9:15-10:45 AM

Classical States of Emergency: External Threats and Frayed Republic-Citizen Bonds
Claudia Moatti, University of Paris 8 and USC Classics Dept.
& Gould School of Law,
“Citizenship, Res Publica and the State of Emergency in Republican Rome”
Commentator: Martha S. Jones,
University of Michigan History Dept. & Law School

PANEL 2, 11:15 AM -1 PM

From Citizenship to Slavery and Back: Claims Making, Comparison, Concepts, and Law in Cuba and the U.S.
Martha S. Jones, University of Michigan History Dept. & Law School,
Commentator: Diana Williams, USC History Dept. & Law School

LUNCH, 1-2:30 PM

PANEL 3, 2:30-4:15 PM

Law, Immigration, and Second-Class Citizenship Today
Jennifer Chacon, UC Irvine School of Law & Stanford Law School,
“Citizenship Matters: Immigrant Vulnerabilities and Immigration Reform”
Hiroshi Motomura, UCLA School of Law,
“What Does Citizenship Have To Do With Immigration — and Vice Versa?”
John Tehranian, Southwestern Law School,
“Changing Race in a Selectively Colorblind Society: Second-Class Citizenship and the Evolving Geographies of Whiteness”
Commentator: Emily Ryo, USC Gould School of Law & Sociology Dept.

To RSVP, reply to Erin Johnson at ch centers@law.usc.edu or call 213-821-1239. For additional information, visit our website at http://weblaw.usc.edu/centers/clhc/